Now a Live VIDEO CONFERENCE!

PROMIS® Training • Chicago, Illinois USA

Program Co-Chairs: Richard Gershon, PhD and Patricia D. Franklin, MD, MBA, MPH

Two workshop tracks are designed to meet the needs of clinicians, researchers, and health system administrators, both those new to PROMIS and those already using PROMIS.

The workshops offer a strong, practical focus on how to select, use, apply and interpret PROMIS measures in the clinical setting.

PROMIS®

PROMIS is your simple choice for measuring outcomes that matter to patients, creating value in healthcare.

"Using PROMIS assessments during telehealth visits allows us to follow the patients during these challenging times."

- Judy Baumhauer, MD, MPH

"Clinical use of PROMIS measures is improving our understanding of the patient experience and helping identify those who might benefit from intervention."

- Dave Cella, PhD

Two training tracks are offered to meet the needs of both new and experienced PROMIS users:

Track 1:
Implementing PROMIS in Clinical Practice will focus on how to choose which PROMIS measures to use, collection in EHRs, and integration into clinical work flow

Track 2:
Advanced Topics in PRO Use will focus on PROMIS measure use and interpretation with illustrations in patient care for clinicians, in quality and outcome measurement for health system administrators, and approaches to reporting for both audiences.
