- Interest for clinical reasoning, knowledge translation and learning
- Experience with various research methodologies.
- Independent, motivated, with excellent analytical skills
- Excellent ability to write and speak French
- Excellent knowledge of written and spoken English

Academic context :

- Stipend of $30 000 for 9 months, and 1500$ for travel. Possibility of extension of the fellowship upon obtaining funding from external source.
- Possibility to work in Sherbrooke (Campus de la santé, Université de Sherbrooke) or Montreal (McGill University). However, the fellow will be asked to travel periodically between both places.
- Integration of a multidisciplinary team and a national network of researchers in health sciences education.

Application Process :

- Letter of presentation and motivation explaining your interest for the position, your research interest and your objectives.
- Curriculum vitae and last transcript.
- One example of a written piece or an article with a brief description of your role in the writing process.
- Two reference letters, including one from your thesis supervisor, to be directly sent to Dr Chamberland (martine.chamberland@usherbrooke.ca) et Dr Thomas (aliko.thomas@mcgill.ca)

Fellowship duration : September 1st, 2018 to May 31, 2019.

Please, send your application and questions to Dr Martine Chamberland (martine.chamberland@usherbrooke.ca) and Dr Aliko Thomas (aliko.thomas@mcgill.ca)
