About the Habilitas Foundation

The Habilitas Foundation is a Montreal-based foundation that raises money for, and grants to organizations serving people of all ages living with physical disabilities and sensory impairments. The foundation works daily with its partners and grantees toward a world of increased access, equity, and respect for all.

The Habilitas Foundation believes that people of all abilities deserve representation and opportunity. By making funds available for disability-related research the foundation hopes to help shape a more accessible and inclusive society. The foundation is grateful to the researchers, educators, and specialists who lead this charge, and to the donors who so generously support their efforts.
